Cars meet culture at Saturday art fair

Combine the culture of the Arts and Crafts Fair with the mechanics of a Car Care Fair, all in the parking lot of Romulus City Hall on Saturday and the planned activities promise to be a real extravaganza.

The events begin at 11 a.m. with the Car Care Fair and continue until 6 p.m. when the Rock Band belts out its last note. Yes, there is a rock band, a jazz band, square dancers, horse shows, clowns and much more.

The Car Care Fair, in the eastern parking lot, will offer many free services until 2 p.m. including a car wash by the St. Aloysius cheerleaders. Donations are accepted. Free auto emission and safety tests are available. At 2 p.m. a raffle will announce the winner of either a complete tune-up, an oil and lube job or one case of motor oil. "Just show up to participate," said John Said, city planner and organizer of this event.

Fiery crash investigated

Airport officials are still investigating the fiery crash landing of a twin-engine Lear Jet last week at Metro Airport in which a passenger received minor injuries.

A commuter jet with three people enroute from Kansas City, Missouri, attempted to land at Willow Run Airport near Ypsilanti last Thursday at 6:55 a.m. when the landing gear malfunctioned and the pilot "lost his wheels" and proceeded to Metro Airport, according to airport officials.

"Fifteen minutes later, the jet landed on its belly at Metro," according to Nancy Mouradian, Wayne County spokesperson. "The pilot and co-pilot were uninjured but the woman passenger received minor injuries and was treated and released at Westland Medical Center. Metro airport foamed the runway for the landing of the jet which hit the ground at 130 mph and slid 4,000 feet. The friction between the ground and the jet caused flames to burst out on both sides of the fuselage. Metro Air Fire Department extinguished the flames," she said.

The crash landing caused no major flight delays at Metro Airport. There was extensive damage to the plane body which was torched and dented.

"The rescue capabilities were far greater at Metro Airport following the potential disaster in this situation. Lear Jets don't normally land at this airport," noted Mouradian.

The jet is owned by John Roper of Jet Way Enterprises who operates out of Willow Run Airport.

Non-union salaries adjusted

Non-union city employees of Romulus have received a 30 percent salary increase retroactive to July 1 as recommended by the Michigan Civil Service Commission (MESC).

According to Mayor Beverly McAnally, the adjustments were made following recommendations by the Salary and Job Description Study prepared by the MESC. Last week, members of the city council approved the mayor's recommendation.

Only the first year of the three-year plan was adopted. "Implementation of the second and third year will be contingent upon the maintenance of a SEV that is at least equal to the SEV of 1986 of $363,615,115. At the minimum level, the city can afford to bring non-union salaries to a comparable level within the job market," said McAnally.

According to city Personnel Director Marilyn Radford, the 30 percent increase relates to entry wages and is not an across-the-board increase. Of more than 150 city employees, 37 are non-union.

"This is a long time coming," noted Radford. "A disparity occurred when in the union contract, any raise received by a non-union employee was to be matched with a raise for the union employee. So non-union employees tended to receive fewer increases. This new wage scale offers an incentive to potential employees and demonstrates that the city of Romulus wants to remain competitive," she said.

The new pay scale averages the entry level wages of the surrounding communities, according to Nancy McClain, assistant financial director.

"Funds were provided for in this year's budget because the new wage scale was anticipated," she noted of the $74,728 salary and fringe benefit increase as a result of the new wage scale.

The increase affects only some of the non-union employees as some positions were already comparable with surrounding communities.

Kostevas celebrate birth of twins

In an unparalleled move to increase the voting constituency in his district, state of Representative Jim Kostevas (D-Canton) has added two prospective voters to the local population.

Kostevas and his wife, Laura Ann, became the parents of twins, born Saturday at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

The new arrivals, and future voters, announced their impending arrival at about 6:30 a.m. Following a speedy trip to the hospital, Jessica Dawn was born at 10:13 a.m. weighing in at 6 pounds, 12 ounces. She measured 18 inches in length.

Her twin brother, Adam Richard Bernard, was born, weighing in at 4 pounds, 13 ounces, at 10:19. He, too, was 18 inches in length.

Denying any political motive, Kostevas did admit that he was extremely pleased by the arrival of the prospective voters. "I'm thrilled, excited and pleased," the new father noted.

He was also somewhat surprised, as was his wife. While the couple were aware for some time that they were expecting twins, tests conducted periodically to ensure the health of the babies indicated "positively" that they were expecting two sons.

"When we knew we had a girl, we were both shocked. It's great," Kostevas said. "Seriously, I'm just happy to have two healthy kids," he added, while proudly distributing Doublemint gum in lieu of cigars.

Grandparents of the babies include Bernard Kostevas of Livonia, Richard Dawn of Williams, Arz. and Ella Dawn of Anaheim, Calif.

"Grandma won't arrive until October," Kostevas noted, "so until then, I guess it's me and Laura taking care of them."

The smaller of the babies was kept in the intermediate care unit of the nursery until Monday, but both mother and babies are doing fine.

Khoury gets prison sentence

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The rookie Romulus police officer, James Khoury, 25, who was convicted of slaying a resident while on duty, was sentenced to 3-1/2 to 17 years in prison last Tuesday in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The sentence includes a two-year mandatory imprisonment term on the charge of using a firearm in the commission of a felony.

Khoury was charged with involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of James Hester Jr., 25, of Romulus.

The incident occurred when Khoury was summoned to the Birch Run Townhouses on Wayne Road where Hester and the brother of his fiancée were reportedly fighting.

According to witnesses' testimony, Hester was standing with a knife when Khoury walked up to his side and from behind placed his service revolver to Hester's head which almost immediately discharged. Hester fell to the ground.

"Many, many witnesses testified to the sequence of these events," said Judge William J. Giovan, who presided over the non-jury trial.

Khoury's attorney, John Lyons, has filed a motion for a new trial which would begin within 60 days, if accepted.

"Not that many police officers go to prison as a result of their on-duty actions. I believe this is a precedent setting case in Michigan at least as far as the felony firearm charge. Yet, police must abide by the rules set forth. As part of the system, we must accept this ruling," said Lieutenant Ken Kraus.

"This is a hard problem to understand. The felony firearm law was originally intended to curb the use of hand guns by criminals not police officers," said Police Chief Charles Wilmoth. "Officers have a right to carry a gun 24 hours a day. To turn around and charge an officer on duty, it doesn't seem right."

The incident was first brought to trial on May 22 of this year with a verdict on the eighth day, June 2. A total of 22 witnesses testified in the court room. Sixteen of those were eye witnesses. During the defense, Khoury himself, was the only witness to speak on his behalf.

"This was a very difficult case," said Giovan. "One can look at it from the standpoint of the policeman who goes to a scene where it is reported people are fighting and ends up killing someone in the line of duty."

"On the side of the victim and his family, police are supposed to help the situation not end up executing someone," he said.

Khoury's defense stated the officer acted in self-defense when he put the gun to Hester's head. Khoury claimed Hester had begun to turn around still wielding the knife, but the judge rejected these findings.

This incident allegedly started at a party store on Wayne Road and moved into the Birch Run complex by the time Khoury arrived alone. According to testimony, there were about 20 spectators. Within five minutes after the shooting a couple of hundred people surrounded the scene, according to Robert Hood, prosecuting attorney.

The judge said that police officers are subject to the law.

"I felt some kind of jail sentence was required. This was useless death and a needless homicide."

like anyone else. I think this was a fair decision but anytime a police officer is prosecuted or involved in a case, it is extremely difficult," noted Hood.

"In a case like this, ultimately, the defendant is unlikely to repeat this behavior. It is important for police officers to understand that their power can't be abused. At best, this was a case of bad judgement on the part of the officer. This type of incident ought not to be seen either by the family nor the community."

"The probation department recommended probation but I felt some kind of jail sentence was required. This was useless death and a needless homicide. There were a number of witnesses who gave a number of versions, but they were all alike in certain respects. The evidence was clear," stated Giovan.

Willie Hester, the victim's brother, spoke on behalf of the family at the sentencing on Tuesday and expressed some "of the incredible trauma the family has gone through," according to Hood.

Hester explained, "The family has a right to speak before the sentencing. We want to resume our lives and get back to normal living again. We hope this is history soon. My mother had 11 children. Four boys and six girls remain. She is taking this extremely hard."

"We asked the judge to give officer Khoury the same chance he gave my brother. Khoury spoke throughout the trial, but only at the last minute during the sentencing, did he say he was sorry."

Bus aides protest wage cuts

Forty outspoken and outraged residents attended the Romulus Board of Education meeting on Monday night to protest reduced hours and changed schedules for bus aides. Before the meeting, several people demonstrated and picketed outside the building.

Concerned bus aides, drivers and parents attended the first meeting of the new school year. At the heart of the protest was concern about the safety and welfare of the special education children who would be most affected.

The hours bus aides worked were recently reduced sufficiently to disqualify them for fringe benefits. The 12 bus aides, joined the union this spring and are members of Local 64. At the present time the union and the school board are in collective bargaining discussing the problem and attempting to negotiate a solution.

A question arose about the cut in hours without union approval. According to a letter dated March 27, 1986 from Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent of schools, "There will be no changes in the work provisions of aides." The letter stated that recognition of the union as their bargaining agent was yet to be confirmed.

His name is being withheld pending notification of the family. Police are continuing to investigate the incident, although they do have a suspect in the case.

THREE ARMED MEN robbed a resident of his car in the apartment parking lot as he returned to his Niagara Street home in Romulus at 1 a.m. Saturday. The victim was uninjured and police are still investigating at this time.

A LONE ARMED MAN entered the home of a Henry Ruff Road resident and stole an undetermined amount of money and also the family car. Nobody was hurt in the incident which occurred about 4:30 p.m. Friday. "He probably thought they weren't home. The abandoned vehicle was recovered later in a neighboring city. On Saturday, Westland police reported a similar incident," said Lieutenant Ken Kraus.

Wheel Truck Stop dust problem settled

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Ten-four good buddy, could have been the reply of the Wheel Truck Stop in Romulus when they were confronted by city officials and local residents about an ongoing problem of dust, dirt and dumping at their location on Ecorse at Merriman Road.

Last month, Martha Andrews, a 20-year Ecorse Road resident, presented members of the city council a petition with almost 40 names of nearby residents who are also disturbed by the situation.

Last week, Mayor Beverly McAnally, Romulus Ordinance Director Steve Banko and manager of the Wheel Truck Stop, Ron Held, met at city hall.

"We discussed the various complaints presented to council by Mrs. Andrews. Mr. Held explained that he did not care for the dumping, the dust problem or the activities of some of the truckers on the west portion of the parking lot," recalled Banko.

"That was my fifth time before council," said Andrews. "It's more than a dust problem. Those truckers are creating a disturbance. Many of them urinate in public and sleep in their trucks, have girls over and so on," she said.

"The city has reacted to a variety of these complaints and Mrs. Andrew's concerns are valid. The owners have already improved the site and offer good intentions for the future. Eventually, after Ecorse Road is widened, it is hoped the parking lot would be fenced," said McAnally.

The company has been cited by the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Center for excessive dust as least once this year, according to supervisor, Jerry Krawiec.

"We have been out there to investigate numerous times and written several complaints over the years. Last week, a representative from our department visited and the dust problem was borderline," Krawiec said.

"We get complaints on a fairly regular basis, but it's a judgement call on the part of whoever investigates as to how much is too much. When we receive a complaint and a violation is issued, owners must comply within 10 days," he said.

"We have spent $15,000 in the last year to correct the problem," said Held. "Most of the dumping is by local people who come in on the weekends and do their dirty work. We plan to put up signs warning about a $500 fine. This year, we purchased our own tractor and sprayer and so far, have applied over 4,000 pounds of calcium chloride to control the dust in the parking lot," he added.

In the past, parking lots were oiled for dust control but because of EPA pollution regulations only three substances can now be used. Calcium chloride is the most common, according to Krawiec.

"Years ago, we planted a green belt around the parking lot that cost $3,000. Within a short period, all the trees disappeared," Krawiec stated.

The Wheel Truck Stop has operated on that corner for more than 30 years under the same owners. The present business includes, a motel with five sleeping rooms, a restaurant and a garage. Showers and restrooms are open free to the public 24 hours a day. The parking lot itself accommodates three rows of trucks, 14 deep, according to a spokesperson at the truck stop.

"The intersection of Merriman and Ecorse roads will be widened into five lanes with a right turn lane with curbs and gutters, 500 feet from Merriman Road. The Wheel donated 10 feet of their own property to this project. The project is supposed to begin next week. When the driveway on the west of the parking lot is eliminated and the fence installed, the dust problem to Mrs. Andrews and nearby residents should be corrected," said Banko.

"The situation is far better than in the past. It's an awkward situation. You can't make management responsible for the actions of some of the truckers. And the owners don't want to see dumping any more than the neighbors. They have to clean-up the mess," concluded Banko.

These two events are expected to complement each other and draw additional participants on that day, according to Said.

Romulus girls win opener

Romulus is making sure that what happened to it a year ago, isn't going to occur again in 1986.

Coach Ron Bayes's girls, coming off of a dismal 3-18 won-lost season a year ago, launched the 1986 campaign with an impressive 43-18 stomping of former league rival, Taylor Truman.

"We got off to a slow start," said Bayes, who began his fifth season as the Eagles' head coach, "but improved our game in the second half."

Leading 16-8 after the first two periods, the Eagles put Truman away behind Brenda Liedel's 15 points, six assists and five starts. Romulus received 10 points from Carletta Jackson while Debbie Barr and Marian Berlinn stood out on defense.

After hosting Wayne Memorial last night, Romulus is back in action 7:30 p.m. on Thursday against Ypsilanti Lincoln.

"We have all of the girls back from a year ago," said Bayes, "and we should be a greatly improved club this season."

Police raid local chop-shop

Michigan State Police busted a New Boston chop shop last Friday which they estimate brought in more than $20,000 per month.

Police officials explained that the business, Clover Auto Vehicle Salvage and Parts Recyclers, stripped or rebuilt automobiles for resale on about 10 acres near the corner of Judd and Clark roads.

No arrests will be made until police can identify the stolen property. Police had been investigating the site for more than a month.

At the time of the raid on Friday afternoon, "hundreds of vehicles" were found on the premises, estimated near $300,000 in value.

Local judges battle court backlog

Three local judges have cleared space on their court dockets in order to hear Wayne County Circuit Court cases and help undo the trial backlog at the circuit court level. Wayne 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold and Westland 18th District Court Judges Gail McKnight and Thomas Smith are volunteers in part one of a backlog reduction program which has reduced 50 percent of the 750 backlogged cases in the circuit court in 18 weeks, according to an announcement from K.

Kent Batty, circuit court administrator. The backlog is a result of the high number of cases which in many cases date back more than 30 months. Currently, more than 50,000 new cases are filed in the circuit court each year, Batty said.

The backlog is a result of the high number of cases date back more than 30 months.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN SPECIAL BOARD MEETING SEPTEMBER 2, 1986

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Hamilton at 7:30 p.m. Pledge of Allegiance. Present: Hamilton, Foster, Heifner and O'Brien. Absent: Kuchta. Excused: Dudick, (NATaT) and Hudson (ZBA). Other in Attendance: Chief Davies, Secretary Tadrick and audience of two.

Special Meeting was called by Supervisor Hamilton to consider purchase of Police Vehicles.

Motion O'Brien, support Foster to approve Agenda as presented. Carried.

Chief Davies reported status of Police Department Vehicles: Three are currently out of service, mileage is mounting, which increases maintenance cost. Chief requested consideration to be given to the purchase of two vehicles from Veto Enterprises at $8,685 each for total of $17,370. (A reduction in the cost is anticipated based on purchasing two vehicles instead of one.) $13,065.84 is in Capital Outlay which leaves a shortage of $4,304.16. By transferring funds from another Line Item shortage can be covered leaving satisfactory funding for payroll, supplies and fringes and the Budget would not exceed $511,000. The only budget adjustment necessary will be for retroactive pay per the Police Department UAW Contract Settlement. Treasurer Foster stated that when the Contract was settled all wage increases would come out the budget however, retroactive pay would be addressed thru Fund Balance.

Chief Davies was requested to prepare a Cost Study on mileage for vehicles used in court travel vs paying mileage for use of personal vehicles.

Motion Foster, supported Heifner to allocate an amount not to exceed $17,370 for purchase of two 1985 Used Vehicles, with less than 25,000 miles, from Veto Enterprise with the understanding of the Board that the Budget Adjustment to departmental total will be accomplished within a month. Carried.

Motion Heifner, support O'Brien to adjourn at 8:15 p.m.

A burning issue

Everybody, it seems, has an opinion on one of the latest regulations approved by the state legislature. While these illustrious and esteemed lawmakers have many times in the past approved measures which have cost each state resident hundreds of dollars in tax money without so much as a ripple in the pond, this decision literally has people puffing with either joy or frustration. We speak, obviously, of the new ban on smoking in public buildings.

Perhaps news of this law which goes into effect Jan. 1, has escaped notice, but where it has been announced and efforts begun to comply with the rules considered, there is controversy, to say the least.

Smokers insist that their rights to smoke and their very Constitutional freedoms are being violated. Non-smokers gleefully cheer the legislators, announcing their joy at finally having their Constitutional rights protected. And local municipalities which must comply are just beginning to see the full ramifications of what may happen when they begin to comply with the restrictions the state has imposed.

The law is very clear. Smoking in most public buildings is prohibited. Smoking in any government-owned public building is now against the law, except in a designated area of the facility. Offices occupied exclusively by a smoker can be exempt, but any public area must be kept clear of smoke.

Many municipalities haven't yet begun to deal with the problems this may cause. If they designate an area for smoking, and the smoke is too close to non-smokers, or if it blows their way, employees can conceivably claim that the ventilation system in the building is inadequate and they are working in unsafe conditions.

Since smoking is one of the very few reasons for which employers can legally disqualify any job applicant, it is rumored that smoking may now fall into the category of a handicap. And if afflicted with this handicap, and not allowed to smoke at work, it is conceivable that an individual might be eligible for some type of unemployment compensation on the basis of their inability to stop smoking on the job.

“Everyone has a viewpoint, it seems, because very few things cause as much controversy as the issue of smoking. But beginning Jan. 1, non-smoking in public and government-owned facilities is the law of the State of Michigan.”

It is, in short, an extremely confusing and complicated issue. But our legislators certainly did not approach the vote on Public Act 198 without considering all these ramifications. No, they knew, but it is only now that the regulations have begun to filter their way into local municipalities where they must be enforced that local administrators and officials must deal with the issue.

There is no doubt that smoking kills people. Research has also verified the effects of secondary smoke as extremely toxic to non-smokers. Smokers scream they have a right to poison themselves, while non-smokers demand their rights to clean and disease-free air.

Everyone has a viewpoint, it seems, because very few things cause as much controversy as the issue of smoking. But beginning Jan. 1, non-smoking in public and government-owned facilities is the law of the State of Michigan.

And while smokers may be afflicted with a handicap, may have a right to poison themselves and threaten the lives of their families and particularly endanger their children who inhale the fumes of their folly, that right ends when such an endangerment begins.

The new law was enacted for the public welfare, and we would hope all employers would begin to implement steps to comply as soon as possible.

The men and women in Lansing may have just saved a lot of lives.

To your good health

We all, no doubt, have trouble understanding the human behavior of others that seems foreign to our way of thinking. It is, after all, difficult at best to always understand our own behavior, let alone that of others.

A matter that I have always had trouble with is the intentional self-inflicted wounds we sometimes wreck on our own beings. When we are unaware that we are causing our mind and body harm, it is understandable that we would have some difficulty in changing our habits so as to alter the final outcome. But, when we know we are doing ourselves harm, why do we continue?

Smoking, for example. We know that smoking leads to premature death, lung cancer and other assorted ugly physical ills, why would anyone continue to knowingly perpetrate intentional harm on themselves? The body is a temple, the Bible says, to be treated as God's temple, a holy place not to be abused, but rather to be treated with respect. Given the gift of life, it seems the natural order of things to preserve it in a state of good health and well being.

Susan and I saw a movie recently titled "Manhunter" based on the book, "Red Dragon". In the book are two characters, both mentally deranged, who demonstrate a disregard for human life most would never consider. The punishment they inflict on others (Susan tells me the book is utterly horrifying) in their mad quests are repulsive and totally reprehensible. Yet this movie got me thinking about how people inflict reprehensible torture on themselves every day.

It is people who become ill, but do not seek available medical attention until the situation becomes much worse and they develop chronic ailments, ones that are apt to be with them for the duration that puzzle me. These people often know by the symptoms that the condition is out of control but fail to deal with it.

They don't or won't take the prescribed medication, or fail to consult a doctor for tests to determine if a higher dosage or a different medication is required.

Chiropractors can relieve pain and suffering, or so I've found, and allow the body to do what it was designed to do within limits, and that is to heal itself. Yet people who know better ignore the obvious and cause themselves repeated and needless suffering for no worthwhile purpose.

As the problem festers and becomes aggravated, as the effects of the problem multiply, as the sufferer suffers, so do all those who care about them. Good health, it seems, only becomes a priority when it is hopelessly lost. I recall another movie starring Burt Reynolds called "The End". Burt believes he is dying and wants to conclude it all on his own terms. In one scene he dives into the ocean and swims out purposefully attempting to end it all. But after careful consideration, he turns around to head for shore, begging God for mercy and promising all manner of penance in his prayers if only he can make it back. As he approaches the shore, he quickly finds justification for not faithfully fulfilling all those promises he has just made in his attempt to bargain with his maker. We are all, no doubt, more like this character than we would like to admit or consider.

We abuse ourselves, neglect our bodies and our minds to the point of masochism, forgetting, if only momentarily, that we are mortal and that life is a sacred treasure to be diligently cared for and preserved until the end.

Diligence is what is called for to nurture these fragile minds and bodies, to honor and care for them for the sake of all considered. Here's to your health.

See you next week.

Ambulance worker cures with laughter

Keller lands Mooradian

Center promotes reopening

To the Editor:

After several days of not feeling very well in this hot weather, I finally became short of breath. My husband called 911. The E.M.S. arrived quickly. After giving me oxygen and taking my vital signs, I was transported to Annapolis Hospital.

Never having experienced a ride in an ambulance before, I was fearful. In order to give me a smooth transaction from one stretcher to another, one of the men told me to put my arm around his neck. I said, "Oh Sweetie." He answered, "don't flirt with me."

I thought that remark was very funny as I am old enough to be his mother. I laughed. Whom ever said laughter is the best medicine was right. A lot of tension disappeared on my part.

Many thanks to Bob Dahlman and Russ Utt for their kindness, professionalism and sense of humor. I gratefully thank them.

To the editor:

On the eve of my departure as Chief of Police for the Charter Township of Van Buren, I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to you for your cooperation and assistance which your newspaper has provided in the building and development of this police department.

In particular, I would like to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to Tom Mooradian who displayed high standards of professionalism and ethics and was most sincere and concerned to insure that the media provided the accurate and necessary information during the development of this agency. His standards, honesty and sincerity are most appreciated by me as a professional and as an individual.

Again, thank you for the assistance that has been provided and best wishes in future endeavors.

L.P. Keller
Chief of Police
Charter Twp. of Van Buren

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to a recent article entitled "A little help for our friends." In it, the closing of the Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Respite Center was written about.

I am very pleased to report that the Center will be reopening soon. The Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board has named Family and Neighborhood Services for Wayne County (FNS) as the new administrators of the Center.

FNS is working very hard to open the Respite Center at the earliest possible date. We look forward to restoring this vital service to the community.

Please contact me if you have any questions concerning this matter.

Coverage requested

To the editor:

My name is Joe Savale and have been a subscriber to your paper since we moved here 10 years ago from Detroit. I have enjoyed reading the Wayne Eagle each Wednesday.

There is only one complaint I have and that concerns the sports department. I have noticed a lack of coverage from Flat Rock Speedway. Every now and then there is a tidbit of news from here.

I was wondering if at all possible there could at least give the race results and a few words about the drivers. I have noticed each and every week that Flat Rock Speedway has been advertising in your paper.

I think the least you could do would be to give the race results each week. I know if I paid to advertise in a newspaper, I would expect at least this.

I would appreciate it very much if you could look into this matter. Thank you.

"HERE LIE THE REMAINS OF

who died the 22nd Dec. 1828, Aged 61.

Her face was fair, her person pleasing, her temper amiable, her heart kind; she delighted in relieving the wants of her fellow creatures, and cultivated that divine pleasure by the most liberal and unpretending methods; to the poor she was a benefactor; to the rich an example; to the wretched a comforter; to the prosperous an ornament; her piety went hand in hand with her benevolence, and she thanked her Creator for being permitted to do good. A might wound, but could not dishonor. Even death, when he tore her from the arms of Area projects get state funding

CANTON/BELLEVILLE — A Canton township park should be undergoing an expansion soon and boaters will have another access site on Belleville Lake, thanks to funds recently appropriated by the state Legislature, state Rep. James Kosteva announced last week.

The funds were included in a $16.4 million land acquisition and grants budget bill for the state Department of Natural Resources, Kosteva said.

Part of the money has been slated for a 50-acre expansion of the Canton Recreation Complex, Kosteva said. The desired land is immediately south of the existing recreation facility.

In addition, funds have been appropriated by the legislature for improvements along the Lower Rouge Parkway and Middle Rouge Parkway. According to Kosteva, this will include the purchase of three parcels of land for the Lower Rouge in Canton Township on Palmer Road, Morton Taylor Road and Michigan Avenue totaling 80.3 acres.

The state DNR is also expected to purchase property on Belleville Lake in Van Buren Township to construct a new access site for boat launching and shoreline fishing.

Airport odors studied

ROMULUS — A solution to the odor problems emanating from a storm water retention pond at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport may be coming soon after a study was proposed by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners last week.

The county Committee on Public Services approved a proposed contract with consulting engineers and geologists to perform a "treatability" study on the pond. According to the committee, the odor problem is caused by an organic mat on the bottom of the pond consisting of decomposed weeds and grasses, which must be treated.

Workers in the study plan to explore methods of treating the pond so that the water can be discharged into drains, which should prevent the odor from recurring. Currently, discharge into drains is prevented by antifreeze which flows the pond lowering the water oxygen level. The antifreeze is used to wash down aircraft to prevent icing.

O'Neil now backs opponent

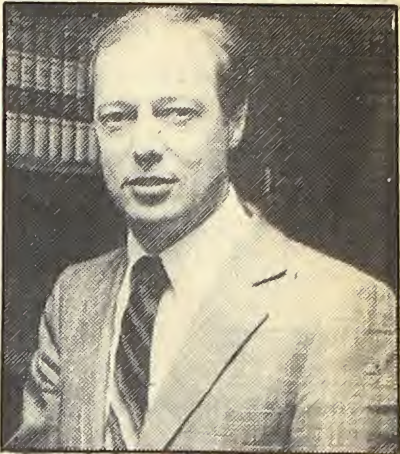

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Inkster City Councilman Patrick O'Neil has laid down his election-time gauntlet and is now backing his former opponent.

O'Neil issued a statement last week endorsing Democratic candidate George Hart for state senator of the 10th district. O'Neil lost his primary bid for the same position against Hart last month taking only the city of Inkster in the election.

"I will give George Hart my whole-hearted support in his race to return to the state Senate. George received overwhelming support in the primary election from the people of Dearborn and Melvindale — the people he has previously served, and the people who know him best. He won the Democratic nomination fair and square," O'Neil said in the statement.

A 10-year veteran of the Inkster City Council, O'Neil announced his candidacy for the state Senate in June, his first attempt at a higher office.

Patrick O'Neil

O'Neil, who maintains his own law practice, said, if elected, he would represent the working people of the community.

"The main issue I see in this campaign is just whose interest the state Senator will represent. If elected, I will represent the economic interest of people whose families make their living room from the fruits of their own labor," O'Neil said before the election.

The Inkster councilman was defeated in the Aug. 5 primary by Hart who carried 36 percent of the votes. O'Neil garnered only 25 percent of the Democratic vote.

Hart will face Republican candidate Bill Runco for the state Senate seat in the General Election Tuesday, Nov. 4. Hart, a Dearborn native, has served as state Senator since 1982.

MURDER!! KARL SCHMIDT SHOTS AT JOHN SMITH AND KILLS BERT MCCONNEL. LYNCH HIM WAS THE CRY.

Last Saturday evening a crowd gathered at Murphy's saloon and between drinking and foul play some excitement was caused. Karl Schmidt who was in the crowd came in from the farm of Charles Campbell, three miles west of the village, for the purpose of drinking with a fellow by the name of Renton to see who could drink the most. Renton did not appear and after shaking dice with the bartender and taking several drinks of beer, a game of pool was agreed upon between Schmidt and a young man about his own age named John Smith. While the game was in progress, Ben Smith, a brother of John out of a spirit of mischief picked up some of the balls which Karl had pocketed and placed them in the rack in such a manner as to score for his brother. Three times he is alleged to have done this until at last Karl, out of patience at being defrauded of the points he had scored, struck at Ben and there was a sharp fight lasting some minutes. The two brothers, John and Ben, however proved more than a match for Karl, single handed, and he came out of the fight with a black eye. He then started out of the saloon to go across to McIntosh's meat market for a piece of beefsteak as a remedy for his injured eye. While on his way he was followed and surrounded by a crowd of boys sympathizing with the two Smiths. Ben Smith, who was with them, stepped squarely in front of Karl and demanded to know if Karl had applied a certain approbrious epithet to him. Karl denied using the language and Ben struck him viciously. Schmidt suddenly drew a thirty-two caliber revolver and fired. Smith managed to change his position and the ball struck little Bert McConnel, an innocent bystander in the breast causing almost instant death.

Legislation creating a new grant program to assist a d u l t , part-time undergraduate students who have been out of high school for a least two years has recently been signed into law.

House Bill 4471 (now Public Act 102 of 1986) provides for a maximum grant award of $600 per year for two years to eligible students. If the number of eligible applicants in a given year exceeds the amount of money available, grants will be awarded on the greatest financial need.

The program is funded at $2 million in the current 1985-86 budget. It is aimed at the many adult students who find it hard to get financial assistance because they must attend school on a part-time basis.

These adult students also have assets or incomes that are too large to qualify them for typical college student loans. However, they are often dealing with budget constraints, due to family obligations, that limit their ability to pay for college education just as much as any other students.

In recent years, a number of adult workers, because of rapid technological changes in the workplace, have become displaced or had their jobs seriously threatened. The commitment to increased adult student-loan programs is a significant indicator that the state intends to continue the efforts of helping adult workers develop their talents and acquire the skills necessary to accommodate the needs of our changing economy.

In fiscal year 1986 the state is providing a record $76.7 million for student aid programs. This figure represents nearly a 50 percent expansion since 1983.

The latest grant programs, enacted under Public Act 102, will mean that thousands of older, part-time students will be able to return to school and upgrade their skills.

Local dealers add fire to finance wars

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

With 2.9 percent and 2.4 percent automobile financing, local new car dealership workers are rubbing elbows these days with the scores of area consumers in the market for a new automobile.

But two local dealerships have gone just a bit beyond the unheard-of low interest rates with the hope that their customized strategies will "interest" a few car buyers who may have otherwise gone elsewhere.

Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth is throwing away those 2.9 percent interest signs which General Motors provided and is replacing them with ones bearing a 0 percent interest offer. Don Massey, owner, is "picking up" the interest rates for Cadillac buyers the first year, a business scheme which could be called a success considering the 500 percent jump in business recorded during the last two weeks.

"We've got the best interest rate available anywhere," Massey said of his latest deal. "I would say that our business is up 500 percent. We're getting people buying Cadillacs who normally would never buy

Used car dealerships are not hurting yet

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Despite the reports from new car dealerships of business averaging 300 and 500 percent above normal, business at the used car lots hasn't hit a downturn.

Not just yet. Vince Law Jr., co-owner of Law Auto, a Wayne-based used car dealership, reported that business last week was normal, if not slightly up.

"It's kind of early to tell how all of this is going to affect used cars, but we had a similar thing happen last year," said

Law. "Whatever happens, we are expecting a lot of trade-ins very soon."

The best deal one can expect when buying a used car, Law said, is an interest rate anywhere from 9.9 to 11 percent depending on the year of the car. However, he added, those rates don't seem so bad when the price of the used car sounds much better than the price of a new one.

"Right now there are a lot of people out there who are getting excited about buying a car. They go into the new car dealership and see that, whatever the financing, they are still looking at a $17,000 purchase."

Law is predicting that eventually the surge of new car purchases will affect everything from car trade-in values to the cost of a new 1987 model. However, he added, when that time will come is still unknown.

"I would say that we can expect a noticeable drop in business. The new car dealers are losing a lot of their '87 customers right now," said Law. "These low finance rates are causing a higher number of trade-ins and it's hurting the people who already own a 1986 car."

The dealership co-owner explained that the value of the 1986 automobile has been significantly decreased due to the current financing. Thus, anyone who purchased a new car before the 2.9 percent financing, can expect to lose about $2,000 immediately on the value of their car, according to Law.

"They did something like this last year. They were stuck with very large inventories of 1986 cars and they had to come up with a device to get rid of them," said Law. "What this is really hurting is the banks and credit unions. It almost seems like an unfair business practice."

wall street — the week ahead

DEAR INVESTOR, IN MY OPINION: The Federal Reserve Board has so many targets to shoot at that it is unclear in what direction it is aiming.

It would appear that the Fed has decided the common denominator is liquidity. By concentrating their aim on liquidity, it is able to lower interest rates, which cause banking system portfolios to rise in value. These portfolios can then be liquidated to meet banking system capital requirements.

In the meantime, the Fed will deal with non-banking system problems, national or international, as they occur. The market will continue to be very volatile, as it tries to determine the correct Fed target.

For this week, interest rates will give the appearance of moving higher, as interest sensitive security holders rush to close out positions. Gold and silver continue to benefit from concern about recession.

For this week, the short-term traders will take advantage of any market strength to close out positions. Intermediate term traders will continue to be willing holders of present positions.

INVESTMENT SPECIAL: Interest rates for MUTUAL FUNDS that invest in U.S. Government Securities are currently about TWICE that of the typical passbook savings account at the bank. While price and yield will fluctuate depending on current interest rates.

Opinions are solely that of the author, and not that of First of Michigan Corporation. Send investment questions to First of Michigan, P.O. Box B.E., Southgate, MI. 48195 or phone 285-2000 for Ronald Ferenczi. All financial planning, common stock or portfolio inquiries will be answered individually.

Bank reveals dividends

The board of directors of Wyandotte-based Omnibank Corp., at a meeting Aug. 21, 1986, declared a regular dividend of 23 cents per share on outstanding common capital stock of Omnibank Corp. The dividend is payable Oct. 1, 1986, to stockholders of record at the close of business on Sept. 19, 1986.

Omnibank Corp. is the parent company of Wyandotte Savings Bank, which provides banking services throughout the Downriver area with 15 offices located in Wyandotte, Taylor, Romulus, Dearborn, Heights, Van Buren Township and Brownstown Township. A network of eight Automated Teller Machines (ATMs), affiliated with both Cirrus and Magic Line networks, extend banking access nationwide

one. I estimate that 60 percent of our customers are trading in their Lincolns and Olds for a first-time Cadillac."

Although his business decisions seem to have paid off, Massey explained that those decisions had to be made quickly due to the short notice company officials gave the area dealerships about the low-interest financing.

"I believe this whole thing was the best kept secret GM has ever had. I heard about it the day before. I don't think anybody knew," Massey said.

Last Saturday, Massey called his sales staff in for an informal sales meeting in the Plymouth dealership. Salesmen came "not dressed to sell cars," according to Massey, as they did not anticipate selling many vehicles since the dealership is usually closed on Saturdays.

However, due to the large crowd which had formed outside the showroom, a vote of the sales force allowed the doors to swing open and the multitude of new Cadillac buyers to file in.

What will the current car-buying stampede do to the interest rates on 1987 models? Right now, Massey said, no one is quite sure.

"I think GM is very aware of the market at this point. They are trying to sell people cars who would not have bought them before," Massey said. "I say there will be a swell in the used car market. . . but it's too hard to say what it will do to the 1987 market."

At John Rogin Buick in Wayne, the new cars aren't the only automobiles featuring low interest rates.

Owner John Rogin became the first dealership in the nation last week to offer the 2.9 interest rate being given for new cars on all of his used cars as well.

"We were able to find a bank that would cooperate with us and that wanted our business," Rogin said of the deal. "We're selling about an equal amount of new and used cars right now. I would say my business is up 300 percent."

"It's a great time to buy a car. There will never be a better time in history," Rogin said. "Anything that has got four wheels is selling at this rate."

Gone fishin'

Fish tales were flying high last Sunday as area grandparents and their grandchildren took time out for a fishing excursion along the shores of Newburgh Lake in Westland.

The event was sponsored by the Wayne County Park Systems and was dubbed "Gone Fishin'." Park officials reported a good turnout for the early morning event, which also was being celebrated as National Grandparents' Day.

Prizes were awarded for the largest family unit participating, most fish caught by a grandparent, most fish caught by a grandchild, largest fish caught by anyone and for the oldest and youngest participant.

Special recipe ideas were also distributed for the fresh catch of the day.

And along with the true companionship and grandparent love evident on the lake could be found a tale of two of exaggeration which seemed just a bit too "fishy."

the letter writer

Mother sends love to 'distant' son

Dear Letter Writer:

I desperately need help in writing a letter to my son, Bill. Bill left home right after high school graduation to go to school in the State of Washington. My daughter, who lives with me here in Michigan, recently returned from visiting with me and told me that Bill is overloaded with going to school and working and supporting himself. Bill told my daughter that the only thing that kept him going was my letters. I miss him terribly and want to make sure that he understands that he can come home.

Sincerely, A Loving Mother

Dear Bill:

I picked up your sister, safe and sound, from the airport yesterday morning. She had a marvelous time with you. From what she told me, you two packed a whole lot into the few days you were together. She also filled me in on your schedule, i.e. school, work, etc., as well as your apartment and every other detail she could remember. Needless to say, she came home homesick for you and she transferred that homesick feeling to me. I really do miss you terribly although the thing that keeps me going is that I know you are happy. First, I need you to tell me the truth. Are you really happy? I know your schedule is really tough and you are under a lot of pressure. Please bear with me while I get my feelings out in this letter.

Bill, there is no reason why you have to stay in Washinton. In your 20 years on this planet, you have a track record to be proud of. You are a free-thinking spirit and have made dynamite and courageous choices each and every day of your life. One prime example is your ability to "not be a joiner" and rather exercise your own value system in spite of the pressures on young people today. That kind of stick-to-it attitude is rare. If you are feeling too much of a heavy heart - if you feel as though you have made a decision you can't rescind - if you feel that your education is going to take too long the way you are doing it - if you are lonely and simply want to be closer to your family, then for God's sake, come home.

From my point of view the justification for humanity, as we know it, is that we are all on the planet for a reason and our task is to touch each other and keep each other healthy. It seems to me to be our only hope for survival and peace among all men. The only person we have to answer to is ourselves and if our consciences are healthy, most of us are satisfied.

Therefore, pride, other's expectations for us, what other's think, etc., doesn't really matter. We all sleep alone with ourselves. If we are going to have a positive effect on those around us, we have to have a smile on our faces and mean it. I do and I know how good it feels. The more scared I get, the more I smile.

I don't want to rob you of your pride, I just want to make sure that it doesn't get in your way. I brought you into this world with love and I want to conduct our relationship while we are together, with love.

I hope you hear what I am saying. The only thing that I want from you is the truth and your own personal happiness. I am going to have a hard time mailing this letter, but I am going to mail it as I really needed to get these things off my chest. I know a lot of people who think they have a problem because their children are far away from them. In my case, that is not a problem because you could never be very far away from me. You and I have a very special feeling for one another and nothing - especially geography - could seperate us. I truly know what it is to love someone. Lots of people never know this feeling.

End of lecture - I love you.

RESOLUTION:

This letter was written in November of 1983. Bill did not come home right away. But, he did get overwhelmed in July of 1984 and is back in Michigan. Full speed ahead to Bill and his mother.

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Keep on keeping in touch with me, 42245 Ann Arbor Road, PMC Center, Suite 190LL, Plymouth, MI 48170 or (313) 455-8892. Due to space constraints, the original letter to The Letter Writer is always shortened in this column.

Private schools develop morals

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Why send your children to a private school? Catherine Myszka of St. Mary's Catholic School of Wayne explained the choice as one of atmosphere and not necessarily the quality of education.

"One of the major differences between private and public, I think, is the development of the child. We value the moral and spiritual value of each child and I think we stress the child's total development," Myszka said.

Principal at St. Mary's for more than one year now, Myszka explained that this development is achieved through a highly-structured academic curriculum, disciplinary program and dress code. Such features of the school room are sometimes not possible in the public-school setting, she said, due to the varied beliefs and values of the parents who send their children there.

"One thing we enforce is a dress code. It achieves a sense of unity as the students don't have to spend their time seeing who is best dressed. The students don't have to worry about competing against each other," Myszka explained.

In addition, the school principal said the school disciplinary policy is very structured and is always enforced. Although she dislikes the term "harsh" for the disciplinary methods in her private school, Myszka, nonetheless, termed discipline as an essential component to proper child development.

And, unlike their public-school counterparts whose salaries are many times in the $30,000 range, teachers at St. Mary's average $11,000 per year salary.

"In the private school, there is dedication. We don't have the extras of the public schools and teacher salaries are much lower," Myszka explained. "But we also have more control on the running of the school system, and we are not bound by all the red tape and rules and regulations of the public schools."

Survey shows new concern is drugs

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Drugs and the fear that children will use these illegal substances in their school years have glided past discipline as the top problem confronting public schools today, according to a recent nationwide Gallup poll.

That poll surveyed 50 top school officials from around the country to gather an opinion of our the major issues confronting public school decision makers in the mid-1980s. Of major concern among those who answered the surveys were the topics of tax money for private schools, allowing children with AIDS to attend classes, teacher certification and tougher standards for grading and graduation.

Even as topics such as these in the public school setting attract widespread attention, many area parents have opted for another alternative in education, an alternative that they hope will be free from those same worries. And as that list of problems plaguing the public schools grows, enrollment in the area private and parochial schools grows in proportion to it.

About one of every 10 students attending schools in the area attend a private school, according to U.S. Census Bureau figures, a number that increased steadily during the 1970s and early 1980s. Although the reasons behind a move to a private school are many times varied, most parents feel their children will receive a better education in the private-school setting, according to officials at the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

But, do they really? Student scores on the annual (See SCHOOLS, page B-2)

Public schools are just as good

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Why send your children to a public school?

Dr. Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, explained the choice as one of a greater opportunity and added offerings for the student and an education that is, at the least, equal to that of the private schools.

"As a product of the parochial schools, I think you are dealing with a selective population. In the public schools you are dealing with all of God's children," said O'Neill. "I think one of the things the public schools are fortunate to provide is a more expanded curriculum than the private schools can provide."

O'Neill admitted that discipline in the public schools was lax during the late 1960s and 1970s. However, he said, the decision toward more lenient discipline was based on the thinking of a more radical society during those years, a population which has since changed their values on the topic.

"I pride our district in that we do manage to provide a good atmosphere of discipline. If we avoid that part of education, we are just spinning our wheels," O'Neill said. "I think the pendulum of discipline has swung back from where it was in the late '60s and early '70s."

O'Neill struck down the popular belief that private schools turn out better students. The school superintendent pointed to the growing number of students within the public school district who score exceedingly high on standardized tests and who take home more and more academic scholarships each year.

"If students get a good foundation where there is a strong emphasis on reading, writing and math - whether in a public or private school - I think they will do well in later years," O'Neill commented. "If the kids don't try to read and write early on, there's no sense in trying to solve those problems later on."

Judge seeks women's justice

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Carolyn Archbold never dreamed 20 years ago that she would today be sitting behind the bench of the Wayne 29th District Court.

But that was before her efforts at obtaining a job in the economics field went sour apparently because she was a woman. Such a fact of life seemed unjust to the college graduate who had obtained a bachelor of arts degree in the field. So unjust, in fact, that Archbold decided she would devote her entire life to seeing that justice was kept in place.

Although the justice she now maintains differs slightly from the injustice which prevented her from a job in the early 1970s, Archbold is content with her current career after just one year on the bench.

And perhaps one year doesn't sound

Schools

Michigan Education Assessment Program – which tests fourth-, seventh- and 10th-grade students in reading and math – have been used in the past to illustrate the “better education” available at the private and parochial schools. Overall, private-school students consistently score well above the median average in both reading and math the officials from the Wayne County Intermediate School District said, however, those results can be misleading.

The school officials explained that private-school students typically come from a “more comfortable financial setting” and one where the parents have themselves secured a greater degree of education. This fact alone may lead to a student who does better on standardized tests or whose parents can afford educational extras to ensure that he does.

Nancy McGuire, president of the Parent-Teacher Organization at Edgemont Elementary School in Belleville, is happy with the education her two children receive, although she admits that the red-tape at the public schools can sometimes be unproductive.

“I think our problems (in the public schools) are always financial. I went to parochial schools for 12 years and I sent my children to public schools,” McGuire said. “Academically, I think they are basically on the same level. I had a friend who transferred her daughter to a parochial school for one year

Judge

ARCHBOLD: In college, my major was economics. I graduated in 1970 and in 1970 there was still a great deal of discrimination against women. Women were not given the opportunity to interview for the type of job that I was looking for. One of the “Big 3” said they simply did not hire women except in secretarial and clerical positions. It was at that stage that I realized I needed more of an educational background. And I opted for law rather than a Ph. D. in economics. Discrimination against women pushed me into going into law.

ANP: Had you ever imagined yourself as being a judge?

ARCHBOLD: Not until I got into law school. Once I got into law school and I saw what the opportunities were for a legal degree, I knew that I not only wanted to be a judge, but I wanted to be a district court judge.

ANP: Why district court?

ARCHBOLD: District court is the lowest trial court in the court. We handle anything civil $10,000 or less, misdemeanor, small claims, landlord-tenant, preliminary exams. I like the district court level because of the people.

ANP: How does someone become a successful judge?

ARCHBOLD: I think even though the state says you don't need any experience, you need experience in order to do a good job. I had a general practice so I got my fingers in every phase of law, and with the

and she was on the same level as public school kids after that year.

“I think maybe parents think their kids are going to get a better education and discipline in the private schools. But as a parent, I think the public schools are getting more strict and the private schools more lenient. I think it all goes back to the parent. You don't have to put a kid in a private school for a better education . . . you do have to have a lot of parent input, though.”

Nonetheless, Americans by and large give the private schools a better grade in terms of quality of education. Of those that responded to the nationwide Gallup poll, 49 percent said they would send their children to a private school if they could afford it, compared to the 46 percent who would not.

However, those same survey respondents were undecided whether government support should be given to private schools as it is now given to public school districts. Only 42 percent of those surveyed would be in favor of such a plan while 50 percent flatly oppose it.

With or without governmental assistance, the trend toward private schools continues. Locally, the schools in Inkster and Canton Township top the list of parents who send their children to private schools while the Wayne-Westland and Van Buren public school districts make claim to 95 percent of all the students within their boundaries attending public institutions.

What's the most bizarre one?

ARCHBOLD: We just had one where the guy said he didn't think he could be found responsible for speeding because he was asleep at the wheel and he didn't know he was going that fast.

ANP: Do people treat you differently now than when you were just a lawyer?

ARCHBOLD: I think people are a little more leery than they were before. There is no reason to be. I shouldn't have any more respect than I did before. But I think the respect comes not in the person but in the position. Even when I walk into the courtroom and everyone has to rise, it's not because Carolyn Archbold walked into that courtroom. It's because of the robe, the position and the court is then in session and we are going to dispense justice. If we lose that respect, then we have lost what holds this country together. If you lose respect for the law, then you end up losing the country.

Fashion experts seek new trends

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"The fashion industry doesn't dictate style anymore and nothing is really 'out,'" according to Marjorie Krebsky, vice-president of Production Plus, the Birmingham talent and fashion company.

"Metropolitan Detroit is not behind in the fashion times," noted Krebsky. "I believe Detroit houses the finest fashion stores in the Midwest. There are a lot of fashion forward people here. They are definitely not behind."

Krebsky travels to New York twice a year. She visits the major designers and several major stores where she selectively collects ideas and follows trends.

"I try to identify the major trends. Then I can come back to Detroit with fashions that local stores can identify with," she said.

Hudson's Manager, Candy Barker shared similar feelings. "The overall theme for this fall is 'black and bright.'" All across the store, from housewares to children's toys or clothing, black and any bright color are in. The difference this year is the emphasis on the "clean cut" look. It's very obvious," she said.

"This fall the major trend appears to be with sweaters, all styles and colors. Pullovers, twin sweaters, sweater dresses and cardigans are all popular today. The more colorful and bolder a sweater is, the better. Sweaters proportioned big and voluminous are the fashion," suggested Krebsky.

"Black-and-white and bright colors, strong for the past couple of seasons, continue to be popular. For evening wear, black reigns, or black and silver," she stressed.

Fashion show set

If you're afraid to go out of the house because you don't know what to wear, you might want to sneak a peak at the latest fashion designs exhibited this Saturday at Westland Mall in the "Fall Fashion Spectacular."

The show, a question-and-answer session, will feature a fashion consultation afterward.

Production Plus, sponsor of the event, will stage two shows: at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. each lasting about 45 minutes with about the same amount of time for questions or consultation.

As an added bonus, the show will feature a special bridal segment with appearances by Bridal magazine editors, Debbie Gotthart and Lisa Comegna.

This segment will demonstrate wedding and honeymoon apparel, Hanchett said. During the free personal consultation, any questions about etiquette will be addressed.

Women's day to address changes

A day-long conference for women will be conducted Sept. 20 to help women confront and manage life changes positively and successfully, sponsored by Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

"Turning Points" is the theme of the program to be conducted at John Glenn High School, on Marquette, east of Newburgh, Westland. Topics to be discussed include understanding inevitable life changes, adapting to unexpected changes and handling our "turning points" with dignity, humor and self-confidence.

The program begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration, includes two workshops from a selection of nine topics, luncheon and special F. Paul Pearsall, Ph. D.

Tickets are $15 for those who register before Sept. 10, and $18 for those who register after that date. Discounts are available for groups of five or more registering together. All registration information is available by calling 467-4058.

Participants will choose two workshops to attend. Topics are: "Letting Go," "Passages," "Separation Survival Skills," "Self-Image and Food," "The Gynecological Exam," "First Aid for Depression," "Superwoman Syndrome," "Legal Aspects of Caring for an Elderly Parent" and "Ask Your Health Care Professional."

The program will conclude at 3:30 p.m. John Glenn High School is located at 36105 Marquette, Westland.

Tickets are $15 for those who register before Sept. 10, and $18 for those who register after that date.

Hidden Lake is 'find' for nature lovers

By JOAN MARY DYER
ANP Staff Writer

Hidden Lake Gardens, owned by Michigan State University, is described as a "landscape arboretum." The 670-acre property contains more than six miles of picturesque, winding drives where visitors can view flowering trees and shrubs, native woodlands, open meadows and other natural and developed landscape features.

Three nature trails are available for those who want a closer look at nature: Sassafras Trail, one-half hour hike; Pine Tree Trail, one hour hike, and the Hikers Trail, which takes three to four hours to complete.

Each season offers special attractions such as the blooming of the ornamental shrubs and wildflowers in the early spring through fall and the annuals and shrub roses which bloom from mid-June to frost. Visitors may want to schedule a trip to the gardens from mid-September to early November to view the changing colors.

Displays are on view at the Hidden Lake Gardens Center and the Conservatory building displays temperate, desert and tropical plants throughout the year. Bamboo, cactus, coffee, fig, palm and sisal plants are among those in the collection.

The gardens, located in the scenic Irish Hills, were started in 1926 by the late Harry A. Fee, an Adrian businessman who supervised the early planting and developing of the original 226 acres. In 1945, the McFees gave Hidden Lake Gardens to Michigan State University and the site grew to its present 670 acres. The prime objective of the gardens is to exhibit valuable plant collections for enjoyment and study and to create landscape "pictures."

Garden hours are weekdays from 8 a.m. until 30 minutes before sundown in April through October. Closing time is 4:30 p.m. during the months of November through March. Weekends and holidays hours are 9 a.m. until the regular seasonal closing time. The conservatory is open simultaneously with the garden and closes at 7 p.m. from April to October and at 4 p.m. in November through March. A picnic area is available for the convenience of visitors and the gardens afford interesting picture opportunities for the amateur or professional photographer.

Hidden Lakes is located on Route 50 in Tipton, south of U.S. 12 and west of Route 52. There is a $1 per person admission fee.

Clubs meet weekly

Among the recent first-place winners in the weekly pinochle club competition at the Friendship Center on Newburgh Road in Westland were: Doris Slagle, Leon Konzencuki, Thai Alldis and Mary Sommerville, all are members of Maria's Pinochle Club which meets every Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the center.

Louis Karath, Thomas Reynolds and Walter Tylurezyk were among the recent first-place winners at the Lucky Pinochle Club which meets at 6:30 p.m. every Thursday at the center.

Both groups are open to the public. Information on the card clubs and other activities is available by calling 728-7628.

Singers select officers

Midwest Harmony Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. members have elected Jeanne Dittberner of Westland as corresponding secretary for the year. Other officers of the group include Claudette Moyski who was selected as president and Diane Peitras of Garden City, vice president. Marge Griep will serve a fourth term as treasurer and Pat Sullivan is recording secretary.

Claudia Swisher and Linda Lupo, both of both of Westland and Canton, Pat Colombo, Pat Holewinski and Jan White.

Dancers, clowns wanted

Aspiring dancers and clowns are invited to audition for positions in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus at noon Oct. 1 at Joe Louis Arena.

Performers can apply for entrance in the "clown college" which offers courses in makeup, unicycling, pantomime, juggling, acrobatics and area choreography.

ONIONS: Bumper crop will have them crying

By CHEF LARRY JANES
ANP Special Writer

How could something so sweet, so luscious and so unpretentious bring tears streaming down the cheeks of the heartiest of men?

It was once called a miracle cure for baldness. It's medicinal value is said to cure fits and could cure the bite of a mad dog.

Long before Contact and Actifed were on the market, it was known to cure the common cold, clear up a bad complexion, rid the body of arthritis and aid in digestion.

Long ignored and abused, the onion may be the single most important and most significant addition you can make to any meal.

Nutritionists, scientists and doctors have shown that health-protecting chemicals are packed in onions which have the ability to contribute toward a more healthy heart and circulatory system. Many studies and experiments have been conducted throughout the world which prove the ability of the onion to lower blood pressure, reduce cholesterol levels in the blood and help stop dangerous blood clotting.

Probably the most important chemical recently discovered is prostaglandin A-1 which chemists at Texas State University have isolated in onions. What is even more astounding is that it doesn't even matter whether onions are raw, boiled or even fried they still produce the same cholesterol-lowering effect.

Onions contain a mild antibiotic that fights all kinds of infections. Onion odor and chopped onions can be used to draw out the infections of serious wounds within minutes of application. Onions have always been used by the Indian to soothe burns, bee stings and even the itch of athletes' foot.

If you think you are man (or woman) enough to try, chew an onion for five minutes to render the mouth and throat completely sterile, which is great for mouth and throat infections as well as cold sores.

And you thought all they were good for was enhancing a spaghetti sauce or heightening the flavor of a roast!

Onions are low in calories; with only 60 calories in a medium-sized onion. Onions have no fat or cholesterol, yet they are a great source of vitamin C, vitamin B6, potassium and other minerals. This miracle vegetable is even high in dietary fiber.

Okay, enough of the Marcus Welby stuff, let's get to the food facts....

Onions should be stored in a well-ventilated, dry location. An old pair of pantyhose (and I thought old pantyhose were only good as a lint-trap from my washer) works well for ventilated storage.

So what's in these little beauties that really gives us the characteristic flavor and the "tears"?

The flavor of onions, odor and tear-inducing characteristics come primarily from sulfuric compounds in this vegetable. When onions are peeled and sliced, this chemical is freed and can dissolve in small quantities of water within the eyes. This produces sulfuric acid, an irritant that causes crying. There are only three cures for the crying onion.

Contrary to popular belief, it is useless to place a long toothpick horizontally in the mouth. One would think that the incessant pain derived from the toothpick piercing the cheek would be enough to stop the tears but it has been found to only increase them more.

The National Onion Association recommends the following solutions. Cutting the onion under cold running water or refrigerating the vegetable for several hours before cutting can reduce the problem. I have found that your best solution is to give the onion to someone else or throw it in the food processor and let the machine suffer. However, it is a proven fact that cutting the top off the onion and peeling down without trimming off the root end works best. Supposedly, the cells that release the eye-irritant vapors are most prominent near the roots.

Modern cooks see the onion as a decisive factor between a so-so dish that hums along and one with sparkle, vitality and an aroma that is sheer ecstasy in itself!

In spite of all the hoopla of the miraculous characteristics of the onion, some people still worry about something as mundane as "onion breath." Although breath odor normally comes from onion eaten raw, cooked onions leave virtually no odor on the breath. (I have this on good word from Don Johnson of Miami Vice).

However, if the sweet babette sitting next to you continuously turns his or her head while you talk to watch the video games, here are some suggestions to help counteract the odor.

- 1.) Rinse your mouth with equal amounts lemon juice and tepid water;
- 2.) Chew a citrus peel, whole clove or cinnamon;
- 3.) Eat a freshly-washed apple;
- 4.) Probably the best solution of all, is to eat a sprig or two of parsley since parsley contains chlorophyll and is a natural breath sweetener. (And you wondered why restaurants always use parsley as a garnish? Wisen up folks!).

So whether you baken 'em, broil 'em, fry 'em, stuff 'em, sautee 'em, glaze 'em, cream 'em, steam 'em, barbecue 'em or chow down on them raw, onions are an easy way to help make your meals different and exciting. Speaking of exciting, try these other exciting uses for onions as you wipe away the tears.

Trust me, they work. Rub a cut onion on a windshield to prevent frost at night. Place a cut onion in a newly painted room and it will absorb the paint odors. I tried this and it works. It also makes your bedroom smell like your kitchen.

Use onions to clean gold jewelry. Contrary to popular belief, Meyers Treasure Chest Stores do not hold the monopoly on onion futures.

Bon Appetit!

SAUSAGE STUFFED ONIONS

- 4 large onions
- 1/4 pound sausage meat
- 5 soda crackers, crushed
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- dash salt and pepper

Peel and pan-boil onions in salted water for 10 minutes. Cut a slice from the top and remove centers, leaving the outside shell. Chop onion centers fine and combine with the sausage meat. Sautee meat in a frypan for 5 minutes, drain off fat and stir in remaining ingredients. Stuff onions with the mixture, sprinkle with parmesan cheese and place in a baking dish and bake, uncovered at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

GLAZED ONIONS (Serves 6)

- 1 lb. small white onions
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/3 cup sugar

1 tablespoon water paprika

Peel onions. Cook in boiling water 12 minutes or until almost tender. Blend together butter or margarine, sugar and water in a skillet over low heat. Stir in the onions and cook, turning occasionally until glazed and lightly browned. Sprinkle with paprika.

CHEF LARRY'S BAKED ONIONS

- 4 large sweet onions, peeled
- 4 tablespoons butter margarine
- 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
- 2 tablespoons fresh grated parmesan cheese

Make a fairly large hole in the top of the onion. Place 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine in each onion, then top with remaining ingredients. Wrap securely in foil and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes or until tender. Can be placed directly in the hot coals of a barbecue, if wrapped securely in heavy-duty foil.

ONION BREAD (Makes 2 round loaves)

- 1 cup warm water
- 1 package dry yeast
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 1/2-3 cups flour
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine, melted
- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 2 teaspoons paprika

Place warm water in mixing bowl and sprinkle with the yeast; stir until dissolved. Add sugar, 2 teaspoon salt and 2 cups flour; beat until well blended. Add enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, for about 5 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease the top. Cover and allow to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch dough down; divide in half. Cover and let rest 5 minutes. Pat dough into 2 round and greased cake pans, brush top with remaining melted margarine, sprinkle with onion. Press onions into dough with fingertips, let rise, uncovered in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Sprinkle tops with remaining salt and paprika. Bake at 450 degrees for 20 minutes until golden. Best when served warm.

Try new lunchtime treats

A whole realm of luncheon possibilities exists outside of the sandwich, fruits and cookies routine.

CHICKEN POT PIE

- 1 pkg. (3 ounces) cream cheese
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tsp. curry powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 2 1/4 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1/4 cup shredded carrot
- 1/4 cup golden raisins
- 2 tbs. finely chopped celery
- pastry for 2-crust pie
- 1 tbs. butter or margarine, melted
- 8 lock-top bags

Combine cream cheese, mayonnaise, curry powder and salt in medium bowl. Stir in chicken, carrot, raisins and celery; mix well. Set aside.

Divide pastry in half. Roll half of pastry on lightly-floured surface into 11 1/2-inch diameter circle. Cut circle evenly into four quarters. Repeat with remaining pastry to make a total of eight pastry quarters.

Divide chicken filling evenly among eight pastry quarters; spread filling on half of each quarter leaving about 1/4 inch border at edge. Fold over pastry, enclosing filling to make triangles. Press edges together with fork to seal.

Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush each with melted butter.

Bake at 425 degrees (F) 16-20 minutes or until light golden brown. Cool on rack. Serve immediately or refrigerate in lock-top bags until ready to use.

Tenacious on defense, Belleville refused to give up a touchdown in the first half against visiting Westland John Glenn and stopped one serious Rocket drive with a fumble recovery (above), while Glenn QB Steve Hawley (with ball, below) is on the prowl, searching out his options. The Westlanders dominated the second half and won the opener, 35-0. ANP photos by Guy Warren's staff photographer.

Glenn tough, whips Belleville

Rockets take on Northville next; Tigers at Trenton

By KEITH A. DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

As the maxim says, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." And that certainly sums up what happened Friday night at Belleville as visiting Westland John Glenn needed all it could muster to break away from the Tigers.

Belleville, under the direction of new coach, Dave McCarney, had Glenn's offense in a dither much of the first half, holding them to only two Tony Svaluto field goals and a 6-0 halftime.

But the Rockets came out in the second half fired up and bolted to a 35-0 opening season victory.

For Rocket head coach

Chuck Gordon, beginning his 10th year at the helm of the Rockets, it was his sixth straight season-opening triumph.

"We got off to a sluggish start," Gordon said. "We made some mistakes we weren't pleased with but we were able to keep our poise. It was good to start with a victory."

But for Belleville head coach McCarney, it was not the way he envisioned his reign beginning.

"I was pleased with the way we played in the first half," he said. "I thought going in that Glenn was relatively inexperienced because of the people they lost to graduation, but they kept their poise and stuck to their game plan. Also the fact that we lost Gregg Hardman early in the game with a broken wrist didn't help us, either."

But Belleville's defense, led by Matt Bracken, Danny Brown, and Jeff Budd, kept the Rockets at bay that first half. Glenn took the opening kickoff and proceeded to move the ball downfield behind the power running of senior tailback Paul Beasley. But the Tigers stopped their visitors at the 13-yard line and out came kicker Svaluto who, with Greg Bates holding, booted a 30-yarder through the uprights for a 3-0 lead.

After Glenn's defense, sparked by the play of line-backer Doug Strehl who had one interception, and defensive back Pat Pettit, put a hit on a Belleville receiver and stopped the Tigers' drive, the Rockets moved the ball down to the 17-yard line where again Svaluto was called upon and this time he connected on a 34-yard field goal.

"In spite of the score, this is not a bad Belleville team," Gordon commented. "McCarney's got it going in the right direction. If people are patient and give him time, they're going to play good football over there."

Glenn had a few other chances to score in the first half but was thwarted by a Tiger defense, including recovering a

Churchill heads for Salem after tough 9-0 win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After a hard-fought 9-0 victory over opening day rival Sterling Heights, Livonia Churchill travels to Plymouth Salem Friday night to take on Coach Tom Moshimer's Rocks.

And Churchill Coach Herb Osterland says he is expecting an equally tough battle despite the Rocks' 49-0 shutout at the hands of defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champ, Trenton.

"I know they (Salem) made some first-game errors against Trenton, but they will be ready Friday," said Osterland. "We expect another hard-hitting game."

Osterland said he felt "very fortunate" to come away from the Sterling Heights game with a victory.

"I respect them an awful lot," he added. "I feel very thankful that we won."

Scoreless the first half, Churchill finally broke the deadlock midway in the third quarter when Kevin Bebb managed to recover a Sterling Heights' fumble and race it back 49 yards into the end zone. Osterland credited Jim Naif with "stripping the ball from the ballcarrier," causing the fumble.

Naif's point-after attempt missed its target.

However, he later came back in the fourth period and connected on a 21-yarder that sealed the victory for the Livonians.

Churchill dominated the first quarter, but the Heights came back and penetrated within the Chargers' two-yard line on two separate occasions and failed to pick up the final yardage due to a penalty and a miscue in the end zone.

Naif finished with 77 yards on 18 tries and quarterback John Tracy connected on four of nine passes for 58, with Eric Wolf collecting 27 yards on two pass receptions. Naif also stood out on defense and, along with that key defensive play, counted 15 first hits and three assists from his linebacking post. Teammate John Knittel, a defensive back, finished with six tackles.

Last year Churchill also managed to eke out a hard-fought 13-7 victory, giving the Chargers a 2-0 edge in the series.

Wayne stops Garden City in opener

It was a good test for an opening night. And an excellent second year start for Wayne Coach Chuck Howton.

"We made our share of mistakes," said Howton after his Zebras came off the field with a 21-12 non-conference football victory over Garden City. "But, it was a good start. I saw things that pleased me. And there are a lot of things we're going to have to work on."

What had to please Howton and his staff was the running and speed of Darren Tatum, a 5-9, 165-pound running back who accounted for all three Wayne TDs on runs of one, three and eight yards.

"The defense was also exceptional when needed," commented Howton whose troops head for Ann Arbor Huron Friday night. Huron is coming off of a 26-7 setback at hands of Lansing Sexton.

"They (Huron) are very well coached and we have another difficult task ahead of us," Howton said.

Wayne quarterback Doug Quartuccio, who booted all three conversions, looked good in the opener against the Cougars, who had their problems holding on to the ball. Wayne kicked off to the Cougars who mishandled the ball but regained control on their own 16. Full-back Joe Petruski picked up a first down with a 15 yard run, but a Cougar fumble recovered by the Zebras' Mike Hines, a senior nose guard, gave the hosts the ball at the Garden City 30.

Tatum carried the ball for five of the six offensive plays which was climaxed with an eight-yard TD run. The blocking of the offensive line featuring senior Scott Badder, junior guards Jay Muncy and Julio Desire, junior tackles Jason Waugh and Larry Holloway and junior tight end Tom Bishop made the TD drive look easy.

Mistakes continued to plague the Cougars on their second offensive drive. Ken Czajkowski's kick-off was again fumbled out of bounds, this time at the seven. An illegal procedure penalty thwarted a fourth and one situation and forced the Cougars to punt.

Lewis Davis, an outstanding junior, returned the punt 18 yards to the Garden City 38. Once again, Tatum was the workhorse as the Zebras marched into the end zone.

On the fourth and one situation from the three yard line, Tatum found a huge hole on the right side. The remainder of the first half was a punting duel between the two non-conference rivals. When the half ended, Wayne held a 14-0 edge.

In the third quarter, the Cougars forced the Zebras into a turnover that resulted in a Garden City touchdown. A Wayne punt was blocked and recovered at the Wayne 38 yard line. After a couple of running plays, QB Todd Freier hooked up with split end Mike Lucas on a 27-yard TD pass. A bad snap muffled the extra point attempt and the Zebras' lead dwindled to 14-6. Wayne returned the ensuing kick-off to its own 40. From there, Quartuccio engineered a time-consuming drive that ultimately saw the Zebras reach the end zone. Ken Edwards, senior co-captain, alternated with Tatum in moving the ball. The key play was Edwards's 15-yard scamper off left tackle to the Cougar 12. On the second and one situation, Tatum blasted into the end zone from the one for his third tally.

To catch up, the Cougars went to the air to erase a 21-6 deficit. Cornerback Ken Blair, a junior, snuffed out one Garden City drive, with an interception near the Zebra 40.

Canton gives first year coach an opening day victory, 7-6

Robert Khoenle

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

One game into the 1986 football season Robert Khoenle and the Plymouth Canton Chiefs accomplished what last year's club didn't do all year - win.

After spotting Willow Run a spectacular first quarter touchdown - a 98-yard run by Kevin Asher, Canton countered with running back Tony Boucher's three-yard off tackle TD slant in the second period and Mike Gray's point after and turned their 7-6 lead over to the defense which "hung tough" to post the opening season victory Friday night before the home crowd.

"The kids did a good job," said Khoenle, who stepped into the head coaching position after former head coach Rich Barr stepped down to assume administrative duties. "However, I must say that I was disappointed in that I felt we had several other good chances to score and didn't."

The Chiefs take on Walled Lake Central Friday at 7:30 p.m. for their first game on the road for the 1986 campaign. Central looked impressive in its opener, turning back Milford, 17-8.

"You have to be impressed by what they did to a tough Milford club," Khoenle said. "Central is a good team and we have to be able to do more offensively if we want to beat them."

Willow Run stunned the Chiefs early in the first quarter when Asher flew past them for the 98-yard score. But that's about all the Flyers accomplished against the Canton defense which received stellar performances from linebackers Brian Gothard, who counted five solo sacks of the QB, and Scott Brown, who also had his share of sacks. Jeff Brown, a defensive end, and Rog Trice, who picked off a potentially meaning pass, earn praise from coach Khoenle.

Canton quarterback Steve Genyk connected on three of eight passes and "looked good for the opener," said Khoenle who stressed that his team must deliver on key plays if they are to get on the scoreboard.

"We seem to be able to move the ball in spurts, and if we can get some consistency out there, we will win some more games."

Although Central is in the Western Lakes Conference, it is not in Canton's division. Canton opens up the Western Division phase of the season a week from Friday, on Sept. 19 against Walled Lake Western. Other division opponent include defending division champ, Farmington Hills Harrison, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Churchill and Northville.

Over in the Lakes Division are conference and division champ Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson, North Farmington, Walled Lake Central, and Plymouth Salem.

Canton failed to win in nine starts a year ago, and has yet to taste victory in the expanded Western Lakes.

Franklin falls to Fordson in 'a battle of defense', 8-0

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

During pre-season interviews Livonia Franklin coach Armand Vigna said that his Patriots could "play defense with any one." On a Saturday afternoon suited for football, Franklin showed a traditionally strong Dearborn Fordson just how true their coach's statement is. Right up to the final two minutes when the Patriots were called upon at their goal line to stop the Tractors, they did just that. On the third play, however, Fordson tailback Fauad Zabam drove through for the decisive TD in a 8-0 opening season victory.

"It was a very tough defensive struggle on both sides," said Vigna who launched his 29th coaching season, his 12th at Franklin. "Unfortunately, one bad break did us in."

What turned the tide against the Patriots was a poor punt that Fordson got on the Franklin 21 yard line. After quarterback Ali El Hasan moved the team to the one, where Franklin's defense, led by the front four of Jeff Kroll, Kevin Donaldson, John Glaza and Tim Brahmer refused to yield. Two plays later the Tractors remained frustrated at the one, but Zabam resolved the situation with his TD sprint.

Unfortunately for the Patriots they lost their regular punter in the third quarter. Dave Janes, who doubles as a receiver, caught a 30-yard aerial but was injured on the play.

"Dave suffered a broken arm and it looks as if he's through for the season," Vigna said.

Franklin's defense had a field day. Patriots' outside linebacker Michael Linenberg sacked the quarterback four times and had five assists, while teammate Chris Parenti, got 10 assists along with one solo. The front four each had at least four solos for the afternoon.

Franklin racked up a total of 163 yards with Jeff Kroll accounting for 44 yards on nine carries. Chris Popp completed two passes as did Kevin McCusker who teamed with Janes on the 30-yard completion.

Until that final series, Fordson didn't penetrate beyond the Patriots 25 yard line; Franklin also found itself playing at mid-field most of the afternoon.

Franklin will be before the home fans Saturday at 1 p.m. when the Patriots host cross-town rival, Livonia Stevenson. Stevenson is coming off of a heartbreaking 7-6 setback at the hands of Redford Union. Stevenson dominated the last three quarters, but couldn't reverse the decision.

"Stevenson has always been up for our game," said Vigna who pointed out that the city rivalry adds to the dimension of the game.

"We are going to have to generate some offense in order to win," Vigna said. "I don't care how good your team is defensively, you still have to put points on the scoreboard in order to win."

'Mad Bulldogs'

fumble in the end zone that took away a Glenn score.

But the second half was a different story. The Rockets came out juiced up and got the ball back from Belleville. Running behind a rebuilt offensive line, Beasley amassed some of his 158 yards en route to the end zone, finally scoring on a four-yard run. Quarterback Steve Hawley danced his way to a two-point conversion and Glenn built its lead to 14-0.

Belleville, using counters and reverses to confuse the Rockets, tried to come back behind fullback Brown and the arm of quarterback Steve Ostrowski. But Glenn was equal to the task. Each time Belleville made a serious move, the swarming Glenn defense, led by linebacker Kurt Kuban and Strehl was there to stop the Tigers.

"We played a very solid game defensively," Gordon said. "We were pleased with the way we ran the ball. The shutout was a great way to start."

The Rockets made it 21-0 late in the third quarter when Beasley ran 10 yards for a score and Svaluto added the point-after.

On the next series, Glenn put the game on ice when Belleville punter Dave Brendtke's punt was fielded by Mike Hammon-tree at the 31-yard line and raced virtually untouched into the end zone for the score. Again Svaluto's point-after was good and Glenn had a 28-0 edge.

"That was the one that broke the game open," Gordon said. "The punt return, along with Svaluto's and (Don) Sprinkle's jobs, have typified the kind of work we put in on the kicking game."

The Junior Varsity Rockets turned back Belleville, 27-6, as tailback Bryant Satterlee rushed for 195 yards and three touchdowns as well as scoring on a 35-yard fumble recovery.
